

Buyer terms

General

Kaplan's Auktioner holds public auctions and offers items for sale over the counter and via the website. The items are offered via commission on the behalf of various clients.

Auction dates are continuously advertised via the website and announced through advertisements in the daily press.

Public viewing

Prior to each auction Kaplan Auktioner generally arranges a viewing of the items that have been submitted for sale. Viewing usually starts one day before the auction.

It is the responsibility of the buyer to do the inspections and controls of the items that the buyer deems necessary to determine the condition of the item.

Starting price and Reserve price

All items are assigned a starting price. The starting price is based on prices obtained at previous sales of equivalent items at Kaplan's Auktioner. The starting price is given as an indication for the bidders regarding the value and condition of the item(s) in question. The hammer price at the auction can however differ considerably from the starting price.

Every item also has a reserve price which is lower than the starting price. The reserve price is the minimum price the seller is willing to sell the item for. Normally the difference between the reserve price and the starting price is 10—15 percent.

All prices written as "kr" refer to SEK.

Bidding in the auction room

To have the opportunity to place a bid in the auction room, a paddlenumber is needed. A paddlenumber is obtained before or during auction from Kaplan Auktioner's Customer Service. If a buyer wins an auction without being registered with Customer Support, a paddlenumber is assigned automatically after the bidding in question.

Bids shall be delivered in a loud voice or with a clear sign. The bidder is bound by the given bid until another bidder presents a higher bid. The buyer is the bidder who give the last and highest bid at the hammer fall. As the auctioneer has delivered his hammer fall, a binding purchase has occurred.

At identical bids or ambiguities between bidders, the auctioneer alone determines which bid is valid. The auctioneer alone also determines if a bid is not to be accepted, or whether bidding shall be resumed because uncertainty about the final bid.

Bidding is done in the following ranges:

below 500 — 25 SEK
between 500 and 1000 — 50 SEK
between 1 000 and 10 000 — 100 SEK
between 10 000 and 20 000 — 200 SEK
between 20 000 and 40 000 — 500 SEK
between 40 000 and 80 000 — 1 000 SEK
between 80 000 and 150 000 — 2 000 SEK
between 150 000 and 300 000 — 5 000 SEK
over 300 000 — 10 000 SEK

Absentee bids

Buyer terms

Kaplans Auktioner accepts absentee bids from a buyer free of charge via the website or via registration at Customer Service on Biblioteksgatan 5 in Stockholm.

The bidder shall indicate his/her maximum bid and the item's auction number. The service is free. Note that all bidders customer number is displayed and ranked on the website. At the submission of absentee bids, the client must be able to identify himself/herself.

At the time of the auction, Kaplans Auktioner monitors the absentee bid and delivers bids to obtain the lowest possible price for the buyer. This means that Kaplans Auktioner bids the item for the buyer as favorably as possible taking into account the sellers reserve price, the competition in the room and the current interval for raising bids.

Example: Bidder A has placed a bid of 2,000 SEK. Bidder B, whose bid is the second highest, has placed a bid of 1,000 SEK. The winning bid is 1,100 SEK in accordance with normally applied bidding range.

In the event of identical bids, the absentee bid that was submitted first is given priority over later absentee bids.

If, due to misunderstandings or error Kaplans Auktioner does not execute the absentee bidding in accordance with the client's instructions, the client is not entitled to compensation for damage he/she may have suffered.

Winning bids

After each auction Kaplans Auktioner displays achieved prices and customer number for each item on the website. Items not sold at the auction are reported as Passed.
